

I am writing to voice my opposition and concern about the recent FCC ruling on media consolidation. I am not only concerned, but angered by this ruling and the lack of information made available to the public who by the way, own the very airwaves being hijacked by big media conglomerates. Perhaps most frustrating of all, however, is the extent to which the complaints of the American people have been ignored by Michael Powell and the 2 other panel members who voted in favor of this corporate funded and politically motivated ruling. I should add that after spending an unreasonable amount of time trying to navigate your online complaint process, my skepticism regarding the FCC intent in this matter is only increased. Given the excessively un-user friendly nature of this complaint process, it is ironic that the web page reads, "filing a complaint with the FCC is easy".

In the interest of democracy and the need for the people of this country to have access to unbiased news and information, I urge the committee to reconsider media consolidation and consider instead the voices of the American people who own the airwaves that are being sold out to corporate special interests via this ruling.
